AVIsion

IT strategies to meet your business goals and objectives.

Why do business with AVIsion?

Complexity, broader technology adoption, and increasing expectations have forced a shift in the role of IT from efficiency in operations to increased effectiveness, with accountability to support business growth. With this comes an increased expectation to drive innovation that will differentiate the business. This means new goals strategies and tactics. Information technology provides competitive advantage when enterprise-wide systems are properly (and optimally) implemented. However emerging technologies can pose threats to business operations, and legacy systems often are inefficient. As a result, information technologies chasing the evolutions while struggling to keep its systems up to date, while there is a demand to deliver value on technology investments.

CIO SERVICES

AVIsion works with the organization to align IT and business strategies resulting in a balance between effectiveness, efficiency, and innovation. We can assist in the design of a governance framework for management practices, risk mitigation, and roles and responsibilities. Further, AVIsion performs analysis of new and existing technologies, and decision making to achieve a rational portfolio partnered with effective management practices. Cost management techniques can realize improved efficiency, eliminate business redundancies, and consolidate technologies.

ORGANIZATION

Transform the organization through alignment of people, processes, and technology to the decision-making processes that achieve strategic and tactical objectives. This maintains a strong link amongst the business, as well as IT accountability for BI processes, investment and priorities. Designs will converge and coordinate data management, business intelligence, and knowledge management functions. Shifting of data collection and analysis tasks to its cross-functional units and away from silos will improve the quality of information used by decision-makers throughout the organization.

MERGERS & AQUISITIONS

AVIsion provides merger and acquisition due diligence and integration planning. This includes business and IT operating model design and implementation, whether it be centralized or decentralized, regional, or global in nature. Change maps allow adaptation to new sourcing models, channel strategies, governance, processes, tools, metrics and organization structures. Post merger, we look for efficiencies, risk areas and growth opportunities that fit into short or long term roadmaps. Strategic program milestones can be established to begin risk and value assessments and monitoring.
